I am going to have fun at the American Comic Book Heroes: The Battle of Good vs. Evil exhibit at The Strong museum.

I will take a long walk through the museum and pass through an atrium with a large glass window, on my way there.

When I go inside, I will see comic books, toys, and big statues of superheroes. There will be other children playing in the exhibit with me.
In the Super Strength area, I can pretend to lift something that is very heavy, just like a superhero does. It will vibrate and make a loud noise.

At the Super Memory game, I can use my brain to repeat the lighted pattern I see.

In the Super Balance area, I can walk across a beam above a pretend miniature city. I will feel really big!

I can use my body to try to balance on a surf board in the Super Flight section.

I can also pretend to fly like a superhero across the sky above Rochester, and I can have my picture taken.

I will stay with my adult inside the room until we are ready to leave together.

I can't wait to see the American Comic Book Heroes exhibit. I'm going to have a great time at the museum!
